

Sweet Home Grenoble

An ecological refuge in Oisans – Artglass demonstration

Friday, September 28, 2012 from 9:00am to 4:15pm

This ecological refuge is using a 100% renewable energy. It is located in Oisans near Alpe d'Huez and is a rare example of sustainable development. A man, there, is fighting for the preservation of the environment at an altitude of 2000 m and he will explain us how we can build without concrete, heat without oil, enlighten without nuclear power and cook without gas.

After a lunch in a typical restaurant (or a picnic, depending on the weather), we will meet David, a member of Sweet Home Grenoble. He is an American glassmaker and resumed his passion for glasswork upon arrival in France. He would be delighted to share it with us.
